Anticorrosive Carbon Brick

1,Application of Anticorrosive Carbon Brick: Phosphoric acid reactor, phosphoric acid and hydrochloric acid storage tank lining, power plant desulfurization tower, chimney lining.

2,Anticorrosive Carbon Brick is made of modified carbon raw materials,add organic compound with strong acid resistance,use high pressure moulding, high pressure impregnation,it is produced by solidification and other processes..Effectively reduce the porosity of the product,enhance the compactness of the product, thus ensuring that the product is not corroded by acid or atmospheric infiltration.

3,Features: The product has small thermal expansion coefficient, small linear change rate, accurate product size (+0.5mm), and is applied in the range of 150℃. The product has stable performance and strong durability.

4,Packaging: Waterproof and sealed packaging is used to ensure that products are not damaged during storage and transportation.

5,Product Specification: General Specification 230 * 115 * 65mm. It can produce special-shaped products according to user's requirements.
